

October 2023

From the Pastor,

I was working on the Tower Echoes/Newsletter September 12th when I looked at the October calendar to find the U.S. holidays. The first one I looked at read October 9th, "Indigenous Peoples Day (Columbus Day)." My desk calendar stated "Columbus Day." The third calendar read "Indigenous Peoples Day." The fourth calendar stated, "Indigenous Peoples Day (Columbus Day)." Oh yeah, and they all agreed it was also "Thanksgiving Day (Canada)."

Older people roll their eyes when they are corrected that October 9th is I.P.D. and not Columbus Day. We hate change. We also don't understand why we just can't celebrate Columbus Day like we always did because migrants (Europeans) coming to North America was a good thing. Yes, good for many of us but at the expense of those already living on the land.

We can not change the past but we can try to understand how the past has negatively affected others and their descendants. We can try to help find ways to help others improve their lives and overcome the wrongs of the past. This is a justice issue. The ELCA has attempted to approach the injustice of the past with apologies and support of minority rights. Micah 6:8b tells us what is expected of the God lover. "Do justice, love kindness and mercy, and walk humbly with your God."

It is hard to change our attitude about things. Perhaps one way to view October 9th is to commemorate Columbus Day, celebrate Indigenous Peoples Day and say "Happy Thanksgiving" to any Canadian friends.

October 31st is Reformation Sunday. This is another day that I had to have my attitude checked. Former Bishop Maas reminded pastors at Theological Conference that we commemorate Reformation Day not celebrate it. We don't celebrate a breach in the Church. That was the last year I celebrated it and now I remember it every year. I do cheat though. I do joke that it is the one day I am a Lutheran. The rest of the year I am a Lutheran Christian.

Pastor Jim

OLD BUSINESS: A council member has spoken with the Neumiester family and they have begun work on digging a basement for the parsonage to be moved to but no date as to when that will happen.
